

SNOW HILL, MARYLAND

Snow Hill was founded in 1686 in Somerset County by English settlers, who may have named it after a street and neighborhood of the City of London called "Snow Hill" despite the location's elevation of just 16 feet (4.9 m) above sea level and the infrequency of snowfall. The town received its first charter on October 26, 1686, and was made a port of entry in 1694

Along the banks of the scenic Pocomoke River, Snow Hill, Maryland, offers small-town charm with abundant protected lands for the adventure-seeking traveler. While farmland and forests elsewhere in the mid-Atlantic region were being converted to housing developments and malls,

Ours is a small and peaceful town, located in the Eastern Shore of Maryland. It has a population of just over 2,500 people, giving it a cozy and inviting atmosphere. Long-time residents enjoy being part of a tight-knit community that values neighborly relationships. Residents have access to many outdoor recreation activities such as fishing, boating, camping, and hiking in the nearby Pocomoke State Forest. The streets are lined with charming homes and quaint shops, many of which boast traditional Eastern Shore architecture. With its beautiful views along the river, its friendly citizens, outstanding schools and low crime rate, Snow Hill is a wonderful place to call home. Snow Hill preserved its rural authenticity, with bountiful wilderness and some of the oldest homes, churches and buildings in our part of the Lower Shore. With multiple trails, we are a hub for hikers, cyclists, paddlers, boaters, birders, fishermen and horseback riders.

Our claim to fame was that in 1999, some scenes of the film Runaway Bride (starring Julia Roberts and Richard Gere) were shot at the Snow Hill High School. The scenes at the baseball and football games were filmed behind the school.

In addition to this, at the end of each episode of Adult Swim's Children Hospital is an old advertisement for The Corddry Co Snow Hill, MD. The lead actor, writer, and producer is comedian Rob Corddry, whose father is from Snow Hill. He uses the advertisement as his production banner.

For more info, google Snow Hill, Maryland